

HYPERCOLOR

March 2016 Album Debut European Tour

JazzTimes ® Magazine: “It was worth the wait”!

Eyal Maoz – guitar, Lukas Ligeti – drums, James Ilgenfritz – bass

“Hypercolor represents a new evolution in jazz-inflected art-rock.”

Hypercolor’s Select Appearances: New York City Winter Jazzfest, NYC; Vicenza Jazz Festival, Italy, Dreamland Theatre, Louisville, KY, Barking Legs Theater, Chattanooga TN, The Stone, NYC.

IN THE NEWS

New York Times: "Hypercolor - a full-tilt jazz-rock band ... gripping self-titled debut"

All About Jazz: "The real star of the show is the interplay between the three virtuosos"

Pop Matters: "Is it jazz? Rock? A funhouse-mirror monstrosity à la Frank Zappa? No matter what one calls it, it's an undeniably daring and exhilarating ride "

NYC Jazz Record: "A fierce unit specializing in a noise-bathed jazz/rock hybrid. Hypercolor hammer out, literally, a cerebral and methodical assault on the senses"

THE MUSICIANS OF HYPERCOLOR

“Maoz provides the Israeli scales. Ilgenfritz was trained in jazz and classical traditions but calls himself a “noise-rock enthusiast”. Being a percussionist, Ligeti has soaked up considerable African polyrhythmic influences over time. And being the son of György Ligeti, he is plenty familiar with European modes” - (Pop Matters)

Contact: Eyal Maoz: maozeyal@gmail.com

<https://hypercolorband.bandcamp.com>